1.4.189
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant
Theodore Cottingham, June 17, 2006 11pm in Farncombe
www.unc.bz

1. Do you want to know what I'm doing?
2. Do you want to see what I'm seeing?
3. Do you want the seas to roll over you or see you and you see them as they really are?

4. Who can see the son of man in all of his/its glory? And who can take the stand that stands the test of all time, and having passed, press on into all of me there is? And there is no limit in/to me. I love you.

5. Who can see the seas roll and know what I'm doing and hear the word of my voice within them, focusing not on/in themselves but in every good thing from above, not; but within me all things are;

6. And who can see the son in all of his/its glory and know the voice of the/his father, one with/in, being one, one'ing others, with no roll? And is there any shadow of turning with me, or any shadow at all, even around me ever?
None. There is none. There is only one and I am him, and who am I but my body and where else would I reside? I have/am given all to my body. I love you all.

7. Go in peace and restrain not yourself from asking me about me and what next steps are to be taken/stepped and how all intertwineth itself not in around you/schedules of takeup time with/for others, but for me, in me, and what next you do now, say now, and what steps lead to what/where. I have all up my sleeve not but in you/your heart and is my all. I love you. I love you. I love you all.

8. Happy father's day.
I pronounce your fatherhood.
I pronounce your fatherhood.
I pronounce your fatherhood beyond all areas/arena and afar brethren call your name, reverence you, and whoso can know these things are now/for now? All who have sought me with an open heart.
I love you all.

9. This is just the beginning. Think not to the right nor left nor look back, taking thought of/for thoughts' sake. This is the ending. This is the beginning. This is when all things come under/become my kingdom. And who is me and what is mine? You and yours. All that I have is thine. There is no other.

10. Happy birthday.
Happy father's day.
Happy one day.
I pronounce you, one.
Me.

11. Smile. All things are in my hand.
Amen.
Amen.
And all things are me/mine.
Amen.
Amen.
So be it.
Amen.
She is mine/in my hands.
Rest easy. Rest well. Rest in/of/in my word,s.

I love you.

Me